AOPA ATTENDS OPENING OF NEW WING AT WALTER REED

Alexandria, VA – Sept. 17- The occasion of the opening of the Military Advanced Training Center at Walter Reed Army Medical Center is a reminder of the burden that many American soldiers bear for their service to this country. On Sept. 13, dignitaries, politicians, members of the military, and associated civilians attended the ceremony, held on the parade field on the Walter Reed campus.

The American Orthotic & Prosthetic Association was proud to support our soldiers and veterans who are treated at the Walter Reed facilities. AOPA President-elect Brad Ruhl and AOPA Executive Director Tom Fise, along with members of AOPA were honored to be guests at the opening ceremony.

AOPA, based in Alexandria, Virginia, is the largest non-profit organization dedicated to helping orthotic and prosthetic businesses and professionals navigate the multitude of issues surrounding the delivery of quality patient care. This year the association celebrates the 90th anniversary of its founding, when needs of returning veterans in the aftermath of World War I required a national organization to address the educational and research requirements of the industry.
